

I oppose the Do not call list in its present form. Calls should be restricted after 7:45 or 8:00PM, and not allowed before 10:00AM. Otherwise, stop hurting the little guy who legitimately seeks to conduct business. Calls to my home are from marketers of mortgagages, insurance, Texas oil, and credit cards. How often does one receive a call from a Realtor. My company used calling extremely infrequently, and when we need to locate a family in an area, we are denied use of the telephone to solicit information from neighbors. This is overkill if there ever was one. On the other hand, restrict the unbridled telemarketers by curtailing hours. And, the public can screen their calls by using caller ID. The telephone company should offer a service wherein the phone will not ring if the caller ID is shielded. This has impacted upon the economy to be sure.
